DOA Secretary Mike Huebsch Statement on ACLU / Capitol Permit Decision

Department of Administration will not appeal injunction

“We thank U.S. District Judge William Conley for his thorough review of this case and his decision that recognizes the permitting process for our state capitol is constitutional. While the judge did change the threshold of when a permit is required from four to 20 people, the Department of Administration will not appeal the court’s decision. The permit process remains in full effect for the capitol rotunda and grounds, and we will comply and enforce the court order.”
