

Department of Administration Community Development Block Grants

CDBG FUNDS ARE USED TO PROMOTE AFFORDABLE HOUSING, SUITABLE LIVING ENVIRONMENTS AND EXPANDED ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITIES FOR PERSONS WITH LOW TO MODERATE INCOME.

The U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) provides federal funding to States through the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program. In turn, states provide CDBG funds to local governments to support their housing, community and economic development activities. In Wisconsin, the program is administered by the Department of Administration (DOA).

DOA handles all CDBG application and contract management activities, including the disbursement of grant funds.

The Wisconsin Economic Development Corporation will continue its extensive community and economic development and networking outreach, while DOA will provide financial management and federal reporting expertise.

The State of Wisconsin offers several Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) tools that can benefit your community. We offer CDBG funding for:

CDBG Rural Economic and Area Development Initiative (CDBG-READI)*

Grant funds are awarded to local governments that intend to grant funds to certified Community Development Organizations for economic, housing and job training projects that benefit low- and moderate income individuals. Eligible projects must include both an economic development component as well as a housing component. Applicants are encouraged to include a job training component as well.

- How to apply: application process is continuous. Application materials are available at: <https://doa.wi.gov/Pages/LocalGovtsGrants/CDBGREADI.aspx>
