Office of Worker's Compensation Hearings Scheduling Update

As of the week of March 23, 2020, the Office of Worker's Compensation Hearings began converting in-person hearings, prehearings, and mediations to conferences conducted by telephone, or video conference. This was done in response to Governor Evers' Executive Order #72, declaring a public health emergency in the State of Wisconsin related to the COVID-19 Coronavirus.

The Office of Worker's Compensation Hearings will continue to convert all in-person hearings, prehearings, and mediations to conferences conducted by telephone, or video conference for the foreseeable future.

These conferences will be conducted between the attorneys and the presiding ALJ's. The times and dates of these prehearings, hearings and mediations will not change. You should receive revised notices for the prehearings and settlement conferences, and instructions for the mediations. The presiding ALJ may be in contact with you prior to the settlement conference or prehearing date to discuss arrangements for the conference call.

The Office of Worker's Compensation Hearings hopes to resume in-person proceedings as soon as possible.
