State Ends Fiscal Year with $588.5 Million Balance, Grows Rainy Day Fund to Record-High $320.1 Million

MADISON - Wisconsin ended the most recent state fiscal year with a positive balance of $588.5 million and grew the state Budget Stabilization Fund to a record-high $320.1 million, according to the new Annual Fiscal Report released today by the state Department of Administration (DOA).

“The tough, prudent financial decisions and common-sense reforms that have supported job creation and led to record-low unemployment in Wisconsin, have also contributed to our state’s budget ending the most recent fiscal year in excellent shape,” DOA Secretary Ellen Nowak said. “The balance is over $41 million higher than was recently estimated, and this is in part due to higher-than-expected state revenues, which is great news as we look ahead to the next budget cycle.”

Highlights from the state’s Fiscal Year 2018 Annual Fiscal Report include:

- The undesignated general fund balance at the close of fiscal 2018 (June 30, 2018) was $588.5 million, slightly higher than the previous fiscal year’s balance of $579 million. The balance is $41.2 million more than was estimated when the 2017-19 legislative session ended.
- The state deposited $33.1 million into the state Budget Stabilization Fund. The balance is now $320.1 million. This is the largest balance in state history and 190 times larger than the balance in fiscal year 2010.
- General fund tax collections were $18.4 million above estimates. The growth was $626 million or 4 percent over last year. Individual income taxes were $99.2 million higher than estimated.
- State expenditures were $174 million less than budgeted in 2018.
- Individual tax relief jumped 34.2 percent from the prior fiscal year in part due to the Child Sales Tax Rebate which totaled $93.6 million in fiscal year 2018.
