Scott Walker, Governor

Peter Bildsten, Secretary

October 15, 2013

The Honorable Scott Walker
Office of the Governor
115 East, State Capitol
Madison, WI 53702

Members of the Wisconsin Legislature
State Capitol Building
Madison, WI 53702

Dear Governor Walker and Legislators:

On behalf of the Wisconsin Department of Financial Institutions (DFI), I am honored to present you the Department's report for the biennium ending June 30, 2013. The important role that DFI plays in the state's economy is underscored by the number of financial institutions and business entities that the department regulates, licenses or registers:

- 212 state-chartered banks and savings institutions.
- 179 state-chartered credit unions.
- 126,693 registered securities representatives.
- 371,926 business entities registered with the Division of Corporations and Consumer Services.

The Department's mission is to ensure the safety and soundness of Wisconsin's financial institutions; protect consumers of financial services; and facilitate economic growth by ensuring access to capital. By fulfilling this mission, DFI plays an important role in helping the state's economy grow, which can help the private sector create the 10,000 new businesses that was set as a goal by Governor Walker.

Among the highlights for the biennium ending June 30, 2013:

- Safety and soundness of banks and credit unions – Working with federal regulators, DFI's Division of Banking facilitated the merger or voluntary liquidation of seven state-chartered banks and the closing of two state-chartered institutions during the biennium. The Division issued 12 orders and actions against state-chartered banks and lifted 19 such orders. The Office of Credit Unions worked with its federal counterparts to facilitate the consolidation and/or liquidation of 37 state-chartered credit unions.
- Reforming government
  - Notary public and trademarks – On July 1, 2011, DFI assumed responsibility for notary public commissions and trademarks from the Office of the Secretary of State. Throughout the biennium, DFI staff worked to streamline the processes for notary public commissions and trademarks, including giving citizens the ability to conduct certain transactions online. The improvements resulted in significantly reduced processing times and expanded payment options for new notary applications and renewals.

- DFI moves to new location – DFI moved to a new office location in downtown Madison in November 2012, resulting in annual savings of more than $400,000 in occupancy costs. The move also resulted in a more efficient work environment for DFI’s various divisions.
- Strategic Blight Elimination Program – DFI partnered with the Wisconsin Department of Justice to fund a pilot program that gave Wisconsin communities the opportunity to apply for funding to demolish blighted residential properties. In total, $1.18 million was awarded to 16 communities for the removal of 86 blighted properties. DFI provided $618,000 of the funding; DOJ provided the remaining $500,000. The program targeted properties that were a pronounced safety issue, occupied a parcel that would be immediately repurposed for a broader strategic development plan, or inhibited the re-emergence of a neighborhood.
- Financial literacy grants – Working closely with the Governor’s Council on Financial Literacy and DPI, DFI’s Office of Financial Literacy established the Financial Literacy Innovation Awards. Under the program, $250,000 was awarded to 24 school districts, with the improved financial literacy courses reaching 12,500 students.

The Department of Financial Institutions is unlike most state agencies in that it is self-supporting. All DFI operational expenses – $36.7 million for the 2011-13 biennium – were covered by fees and assessments collected by the department. In many respects, DFI operates much like a private-sector business. Staff members routinely look for new ways to improve customer service or add efficiency to the organization.

During the biennium, DFI faced a significant workforce challenge – high employee turnover in the Division of Banking and the Office of Credit Unions. DFI, like state regulators across the country, continues to lose talented, experienced staff at all levels to our federal counterparts whose pay structures are significantly higher. DFI will continue to seek ways to address this problem and has been networking with other state regulators to seek best practices on how to address this challenge.

To learn more about DFI, I encourage you to visit our website, www.wdfi.org.

Sincerely,

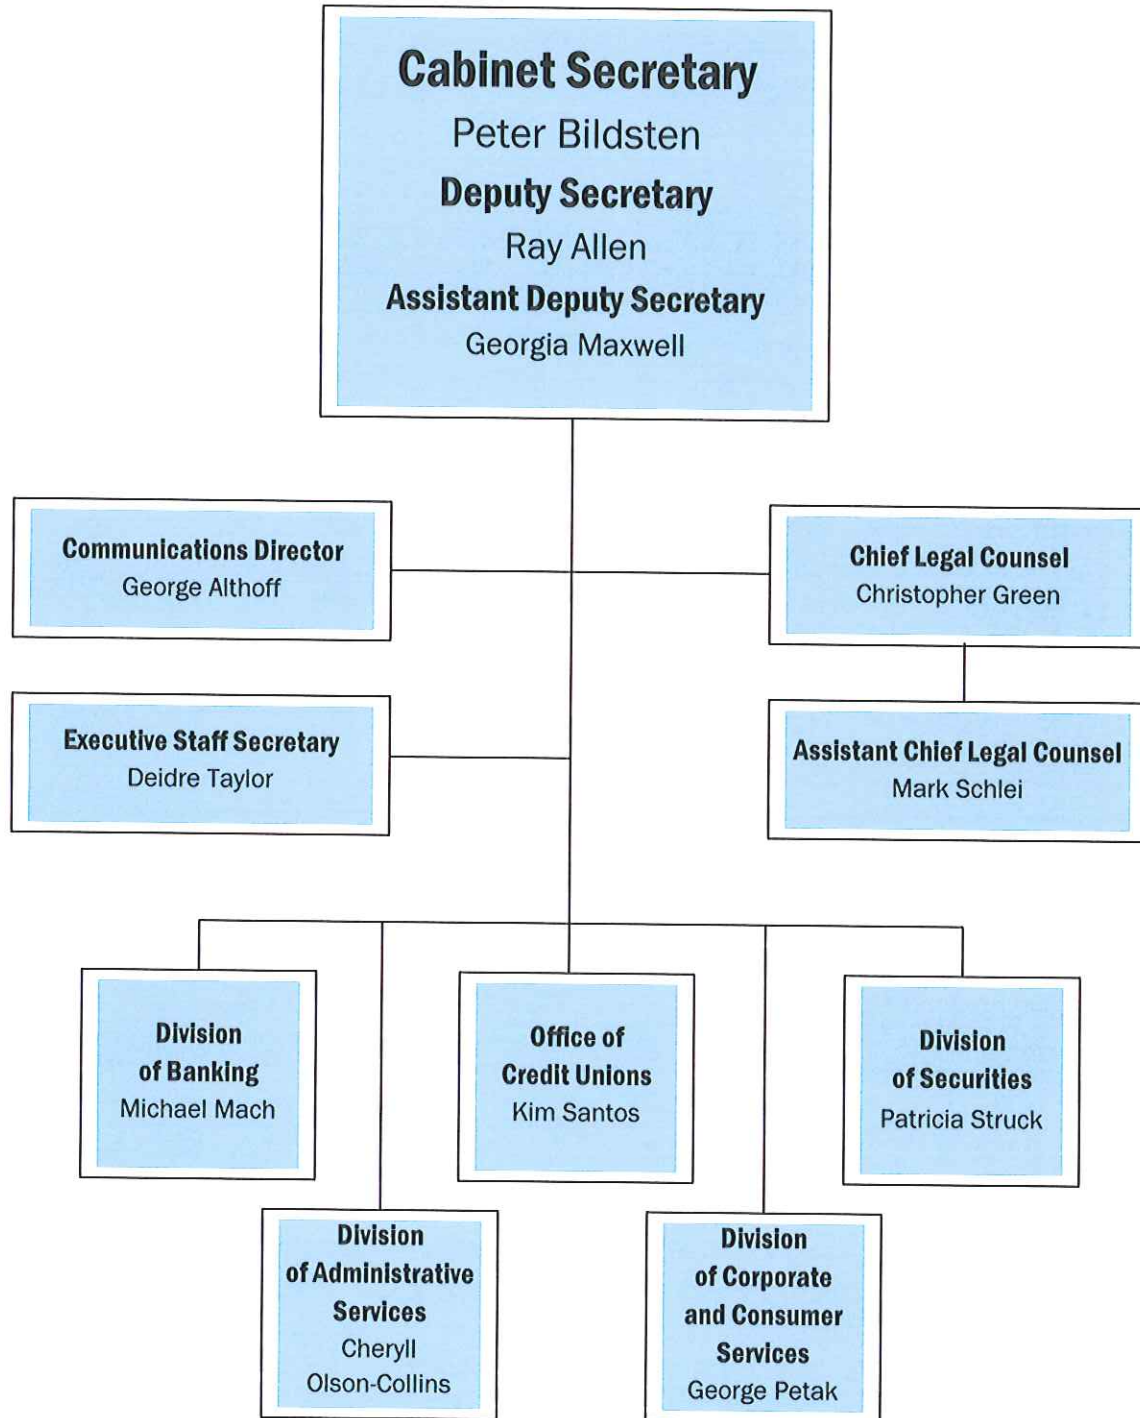

Peter Bildsten
Secretary

It also regulates auto dealers' installment sales contracts. The division investigates applications for expanded banking powers, new financial products, and interstate bank acquisitions and mergers.

2011-2013 Key Accomplishments/Activities

- The assets of the state-chartered banks in Wisconsin totaled $44.5 billion as of June 30, 2013, down from $89.7 billion as of June 30, 2011. The primary factor in that decline was the purchase of Marshall & Ilsley Bank, a state-chartered institution, by BMO Harris, a federally chartered institution.
- The number of state-chartered banks declined from 206 as of June 30, 2011, to 197 as of June 30, 2013, which includes three non-depository trust companies.
- The number of state-chartered savings institutions declined from 16 as of June 30, 2011, to 15 as of June 30, 2013. Assets of savings institutions declined from $4.3 billion as of June 30, 2011, to $4.1 billion as of June 30, 2013.
- Fiduciary assets increased from $3.5 billion as of June 30, 2011, to $4.3 billion as of June 30, 2013.

The Division issued 12 orders and actions against state-chartered banks and lifted 19 such orders.
- The Division's Bureau of Licensed Financial Services produced annual reports of Wisconsin's payday lending industry for calendar years 2011 and 2012. It also investigates complaints and, if violations are found, initiates the appropriate administrative, injunctive or criminal action.

2011-2013 Key Accomplishments/Activities

- Following a federal legislative mandate, “mid-sized investment advisers,” formerly subject to regulation by the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission, in 2012 became subject to regulation by state securities regulators. - Total loans increased $1.2 billion in two years and total loans, as of June 30, 2013, were $17.3 billion. This represented 71.2% of assets.
