WISCONSIN CHILD ABUSE AND NEGLECT PREVENTION BOARD 2013-2015 BIENNIAL REPORT

Vision

Every child in Wisconsin grows up in a safe, stable and nurturing environment.

Mission

Mobilize research and practice to prevent child abuse in Wisconsin.

OVERVIEW OF THE CHILD ABUSE AND NEGLECT PREVENTION BOARD

In accordance with Wis. Stat. §48.982, the Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board (CANPB) is charged with the leadership of statewide efforts to protect children from abuse and neglect. CANPB is tasked with the provision of funding, technical assistance, services and information to a variety of constituents in an effort to further child abuse and neglect prevention programs throughout the state. Stakeholders include family serving organizations, other governmental agencies, institutions and entities that interact with or are utilized by children and families, policy makers and local citizens. Both within local communities and statewide, CANPB convenes key partners around a shared agenda, innovative strategies, research and evidence-based programs, public awareness, and public policy. In collaboration with communities, state and federal governments, private foundations, and individuals, the Board seeks to ensure that parents have the skills, education, and resources to nurture and parent their children in positive and safe ways. As an independently operating agency, CANPB is in a unique position to work flexibly and responsively to meet these goals. CANPB has the following responsibilities as identified in state statute:

- Provide direct fund oversight of statewide information and services grants, statewide project grants, and family resource center grants.
- Develop and publicize grant criteria for grant applications.
- Review and approve or disapprove grant applications.
- Assure equal opportunity for the establishment of child abuse and neglect prevention programs and family resource centers.
- Award grants throughout all geographic areas of the state in both rural and urban communities.
- Monitor services provided under grant awards.
- Provide child abuse and neglect prevention information and services on a statewide basis.
- Solicit and accept contributions, grants, gifts and bequests for the Children's Trust Fund or another purpose for which monies are made or received.

- Recommend to the governor, the legislature and state agencies changes needed in state programs, statutes, policies, budgets and rules to reduce the problems of child abuse and neglect, improve coordination among state agencies that provide prevention services, promote individual, family and community strengths, build parenting skills, and provide community support for children and families.
- Promote statewide educational materials and campaigns for the purpose of developing public awareness of child abuse and neglect.
- Encourage professional persons and groups to recognize and deal with the problems of child abuse and neglect.
- Disseminate information about the problems of child maltreatment and methods of preventing child abuse and neglect to the public and to organizations concerned with those problems.
- Encourage the development of community child abuse and neglect prevention programs, including education and public awareness materials that emphasize the role of fathers in the primary prevention of child abuse and neglect.

Over the previous two years, the Board put into action a community investment strategy to promote the utilization of proven evidence-based programming and practices while simultaneously encouraging innovation. CANPB provided onsite training to grantees and partners as well as support and funding for outside training opportunities at both the regional and the state levels. The Board further sought to support productive policy implementation and serve as an active partner in collaborative initiatives with other state agencies, state and community based organizations and national entities. Finally, the Board provided leadership of efforts to build awareness throughout the state of the effects and implications of child maltreatment on later adult outcomes and the need to frame the issues in such a way as to establish its relevance to society as a whole.

The Board began implementing a new strategic plan in May 2015. While this strategic plan encompasses a spectrum of inter-related efforts targeting different aspects of child maltreatment prevention, the 2015-2019 Strategic Plan centers on a primary goal of preventing first time occurrences of child abuse and neglect. The strategies comprising the plan incorporate an understanding of the role of risk and protective factors in addressing the potential abuse before it actually happens. Through strategic partnerships, investments and provision of support, CANPB will bolster the ability for caregivers and communities to prevent child abuse and neglect in Wisconsin.

The Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board was statutorily created by the Wisconsin State Legislature in 1983 to develop and fund strategies to prevent child maltreatment in Wisconsin. The Children's Trust Fund was simultaneously created in statute as a segregated fund for contributions, grants, gifts and bequests outside of state and federal funding.

In 1998 CANPB created a nonstock, nonprofit corporation called the Celebrate Children Foundation to serve as a fundraising entity for the Board. As a non-government, non-public entity the foundation is positioned and eligible to solicit grant funding from grantors who only fund private grantees.

CANPB is currently staffed by an executive director with position authority for five additional staff members. CANPB is composed of twenty directors as defined under Wis. Stat. §15.205.

KEY AREAS OF FOCUS: 2013-2015

Within the 2013-2015 biennium, the Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board had three key areas of focus.

1. Strategic Community Investment

In an effort to support a more systemic approach to service provision, the Board created a Community Investment Plan utilizing a strategic community investment approach with which to guide its grant funding activity.

2. Research and Dissemination of Child Maltreatment Prevention Information

CANPB sought to build the knowledge base around child abuse and neglect prevention, as it relates specifically to Wisconsin, and also share that and other knowledge to inform the understanding of child maltreatment within the state and the approaches most effective in combatting it.

3. Collaboration and Coordination

Part of CANPB's ongoing work is to collaborate, inform and partner with other agencies and organizations in an effort to strengthen and extend the reach of child maltreatment prevention efforts within the state.

1. STRATEGIC COMMUNITY INVESTMENT

Throughout 2013-2015, the Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board advanced investment strategies based on the latest research on the causes and consequences of child maltreatment as well as the effectiveness of programs and services designed to prevent abuse and neglect. CANPB began to take a more holistic approach, developing a Community Investment Plan for strategic investment to support systemic change, targeting investments toward building a continuum of services. The Board continued to provide vital financial support and guidance to a variety of organizations that provide direct prevention services to mitigate risk of child maltreatment.

CANPB runs a competitive process for all grants. The request for proposals (RFP) are posted on the agency website and disseminated to all current grantees and a listserv of agencies who selected to receive funding opportunity announcements. The RFP process adheres with requirement of the Community Based Child Abuse Prevention (CBCAP) federal funding received by CANPB that funds be distributed in an open and competitive manner, as well as state statutes and procurement rules, to ensure there is regional dissemination of the grants. The grant award process consists of four phases: 1) All applications receive a technical ranking by an independent review team; 2) an independent review team meets to discuss the applications and forwards funding recommendations to the CANPB Grants Committee; 3) the CANPB Grants Committee considers recommendations from the independent review team and forwards funding recommendations to the full CANPB; and 4) the Board approves the awards based on the Grants Committee's and review team's recommendations. CANPB adheres to statutory, budgetary and policy requirements.

Appendices 1, 2 and 3 reference all the projects and organizations comprised within the Community Investment Plan during the 2013-2015 biennium. Listed are all CANPB grantees for SFY13, SFY14 and SFY 2015, the amount of grant funding they received, the number of individuals reached and the geographic location the grantee serves.

Grants Initiated within SFY 2013 - 2015

Access and Visitation Programs

The Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board managed federal funding from the United States Health and Human Service, Office of Child Support Enforcement for efforts to support and facilitate noncustodial parents' access to, and visitation of, their children. The goal of this effort is to connect non-custodial parents to opportunities to spend time with their children and to encourage them to take advantage of these options. Grantees provide safe, non-threatening sites for access and visitation, when necessary, in an effort to enhance the ability of the non-custodial and custodial parents to co-parent, and to provide a supportive, non-confrontational environment for their children. The target population includes never-married, divorced or separated parents. The menu of potential services consists of mediation (both voluntary and mandatory), counseling, education, parenting plan development and establishing of guidelines for visitation and alternative custody arrangements. Visitation enforcement is also offered, including monitoring, supervision, and neutral drop-off and pickup.

Awareness to Action: Child Sexual Abuse Prevention Initiative

In 2014 the Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board awarded the Children’s Hospital of Wisconsin-Community Services grant funding to implement Awareness to Action, a child sexual abuse prevention initiative that trains professionals across multiple systems to focus on adult and community responsibility and action to prevent child sexual abuse. The initiative works to empower youth- and child-serving agencies to improve internal policies, procedures and training related to keeping children safe from sexual harm. Committees were established to manage the various aspects of this effort. CANPB played a significant role on the steering and leadership committees. In collaboration with a number of child and youth serving organizations, effort was made to operationalize the Center for Disease Control and Prevention’s (CDC) publication, Preventing Child Sexual Abuse Within Youth-serving Organizations: Getting Started on Policies and Procedures. In order to develop a statewide sexual abuse prevention infrastructure, training and technical assistance was offered to select child serving organizations to implement the newly drafted Prevention of Child Sexual Abuse within in Youth-serving Organizations: Getting Started on Policies and Procedures manual for the development of organizational policies. In tandem with the effort to strengthen organizational policies, Awareness to Action provided coordination for a statewide network of trainers of the evidence-informed Stewards of Children curriculum, which targets sexual abuse prevention on the individual level. This project is also a collaboration with the Child Abuse Prevention Fund who released a grant to expand training and policy implementation for child and youth serving organizations found in communities within four regions of the state including Appleton area schools, Hayward childcare centers, Janesville and Beloit area Boys & Girls Clubs, CASA, WIC and Headstart programs, and La Crosse youth serving organizations and childcare centers.

Child Maltreatment Innovation Fund

The Child Maltreatment Innovation Fund was created in 2013 as an investment strategy intended to impact the lives of children and families in Wisconsin by advancing the child maltreatment prevention field. The Fund supports promising practices, innovative solutions, research and evaluation projects, and replication of innovative strategies in Wisconsin and aims to encourage unique and creative solutions that address the risk factors that contribute to child abuse and neglect. Dane County Department of Health Services was awarded the first Innovation Fund grant to implement the Innovations in Home Visiting: Early Childhood Initiative. The Early Childhood Initiative (ECI) is an ecologically driven home visiting and employment program in Dane County. ECI places emphasis on the following objectives: 1) decreasing maternal depression, 2) promoting healthy attachment between primary parent and child, 3) increasing job placement and retention and 4) ensuring children meet development milestones. Since the majority of the family support specialists are masters’ level social workers or marriage and family therapists, ECI has the capacity to engage families with complex needs, and provide clinical services integrated into the case management. Seen as a promising practice, the evaluation will provide evidence of its effectiveness and inform the development of an ECI program curriculum for broader dissemination. Funds supported evaluation of the Early Childhood Initiative and the subsequent development of a program curriculum for dissemination of this promising child abuse and neglect prevention model. As of the third quarter of 2015, the assessment tool has been created and translated into Spanish, family recruitment for a comparison group was completed and entry of the initial survey data had been completed.

Special Projects Fund: April 2013 – March 2014 with two, one- year renewal opportunities

The Special Project funds offered a number of limited local grants for the purpose of launching smaller scale initiatives, exploring promising prevention practices and programming and supporting local research to identify prevention opportunities. Grantees and their projects are as follows:

SaintA

The grant was awarded to support the implementation of the Parents Interacting with Infants (PIWI) Model. The program's outcomes focus on increased confidence, competence and mutual enjoyment for both parent and child. The first year the program was offered by SaintA staff for young parents served through SaintA's Independent Living Services and their children. These young parents had aged out of foster care. The second year the program was offered with Acelero Headstart programs to a broader audience of parents whose income is at or below the poverty level.

The Medical College of Wisconsin, Inc.

The grant supported the training of two behavioral health staff working out of the Downtown Health Center for low-income children. The psychiatrists were trained in an effort to build capacity to deliver Triple P, an evidence-based parenting program, in the primary care setting to reduce child abuse and improve children's emotional and behavioral health.

Lutheran Social Services of WI and Upper MI, Inc.

Lutheran Social Services staff implemented trauma informed care to meet the service needs of children under age five entering the Waukesha County Child Protective Services Unit due to substantiated finding of child abuse or neglect. The framework includes: enhancing the child's capacity to learn and relate to others, encouraging the family to develop stability, and supporting foster parents who are experiencing challenges caring for the child.

Family & Children's Center

The Family & Children's Center initiated the Child Abuse Prevention Services Effectiveness Study to examine expected versus actual long-term outcomes of the evidence-based Healthy Families program and the research-based Hope Academy teen parent program. Program evaluation was conducted by a consulting researcher for the Family & Children's Center.

SET Ministry, Inc.

Trained Set Ministry staff provided PEACE, a psycho-educational, school-based prevention intervention for elementary and middle school children designed to enhance the areas of social-emotional development such as self-control, self-esteem, emotional awareness, social skills, friendship and interpersonal problem-solving skills while also reducing aggression and other behavior problems.

Penfield Children's Center

Offered through the Penfield Children's Center Behavior Clinic, the weekly home-based Early Pathways evidence-based prevention program targeted very young children from at-risk families living in poverty, with significant emotional and behavioral problems.

Special Projects: April 2014 – March 2015 with two, one-year renewal opportunities

The Parenting Place

The Parenting Place funded two staff members to conduct Newborn Behavioral Observations (NBO) at space provided by Mayo Clinic. The NBO provides parents of newborns with information about how to best respond to their infant's unique dispositional needs and sensibilities, as identified in the observation. The NBO 1) strengthens the parent - child relationship 2) increases parents' competency and understanding of infant's communication 3) links parents to ongoing parental supports.

Northwest Connection Family Resources

Northwest Connection Family Resources trained and implemented Parents Forever curriculum targeting families going through divorce or separation. Their focus was on reaching out to the tribal community, teen parents and incarcerated parents.

The Medical College of Wisconsin

The Medical College of Wisconsin initiated a research project to evaluate abused versus typically developing infants in terms of parental perceptions and actions related to infant distress. The study is a follow-up to previously published sentinel injuries studies exploring prevention opportunities related to infants with sentinel injuries.

Ongoing Grants FY2012-2016

Family Resource Center Networks

Family Resource Center Networks (FRCNs) grantees increase the availability of community resources to prevent child maltreatment while promoting individual, family, and community strengths, building parenting skills, and providing community supports for families. Utilizing strengths-based prevention approaches and the most effective known principles of family support practice, these FRCNs provide universally available programs and services in geographic areas of Wisconsin at highest risk of child maltreatment. The current grantees were awarded through a competitive process and were in the second and third years of their grant cycle between the years of 2013-2015. The FRCNs must provide five core services: 1) Community Response (except in Milwaukee County, which has a separate grant award) – voluntary services for families reported to child protective services, but screened out or closed after an initial assessment; 2) coordination of public benefits and economic supports – through Wisconsin’s Access online system – the FRCN must ensure that families have access to supports and services that help meet basic needs; 3) evidence-based home visitation – the FRCN must either provide evidence-based home visiting or coordinate with already existing evidence-based home visiting services; 4) Family Team Meetings – structured group discussions with informal supports that help families develop their own action plans; and 5) cross-systems leadership – the FRCN must provide leadership in promoting, and implementing comprehensive cross-system approaches to the prevention of child maltreatment.

The Family Resource Network grant provided funding for eight centers to implement the Wisconsin Community Response Program (CRP) model. CRP is a promising practice for preventing child maltreatment and strengthening family functioning. CRP provides access to concrete services that families at risk of entering the child protection system need and assists them in accessing formal systems and resources to meet those needs. CRP provides voluntary supports to families who have been reported to county child protective services (CPS) for alleged child abuse or neglect, but who are not receiving services because the referral is 1) screened out, or 2) screened in for further assessment, but the case is closed due to a finding that the report could not be substantiated. The primary goals of CRP are to 1) enhance comprehensive voluntary services to lower-risk families that are reported to, but not served by, the CPS system, 2) to prevent child abuse and neglect and reduce re-reports to CPS related to escalation of risk, and 3) increase a family’s protective capacity by providing information and access about community services and supports available to meet their needs. Over the 2013-2015 biennium, CANPB worked with the Family Resource Center Network grantees, the UW-Madison Institute for Research on Poverty and other prevention partners to standardize the Community Response program framework and to implement CRP.

Project GAIN

CANPB continued to support the implementation of Project GAIN (Getting Access to Income Now) begun in 2012. CANPB, the Department of Children and Families, and researchers at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, Institute for Research on Poverty developed Project GAIN to address the economic needs of the families in an effort to prevent future reports to child protective services (CPS) that result in substantiated maltreatment. Project GAIN assists families in building financial stability through increased earnings/income, access to basic necessities (food, housing, medical care), and reduced financial stressors (utility shut-offs, rent arrears, debt, credit problems) resulting in decreased subsequent contacts with CPS. Findings from an experimental evaluation of Project GAIN, planned within the next biennium, stand to make a critical contribution to the child maltreatment prevention knowledge base.

Preliminary evaluation findings show that participant families with a history of CPS involvement (each of these families have at least three interactions with CPS or had at least one previous substantiated CPS report) are:

- 39% less likely (15.8% vs. 25.8%) than non-participants to have subsequent investigated CPS reports over a one year period following Project GAIN participation
- 45% less likely (2.3% vs. 4.2%) than non-participants to have a subsequent substantiated CPS report over a one year period following Project GAIN participation
- 12% less likely (3.6% vs. 4.1%) than non-participants to have subsequent placement of one or more children over a one year period following Project GAIN participation.

2. RESEARCH AND DISSEMINATION OF CHILD MALTREATMENT PREVENTION INFORMATION

The Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board focused on research and the sharing of information essential for building the knowledge base regarding child maltreatment prevention, specific to Wisconsin. This work led to action steps to share that information and use it to impact policy and strengthen prevention programming efforts.

Wisconsin ACE Study

Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) including abuse, neglect and household dysfunction have conclusively been linked to poor health outcomes in adulthood. 2013 and 2014, in partnership with the Wisconsin Department of Health Services, Department of Children and Families, and the Child Abuse Prevention Fund of Children’s Hospital of Wisconsin, CANPB provided financial support to include the ACE module in the annual Wisconsin Behavioral Risk Factor Survey (BRFS) and explore the prevalence of ACE among Wisconsin adults. Data collection began in 2010, has continued annually and will be ongoing through 2016. The findings have confirmed that ACEs are common among Wisconsin adults and frequently co-occurring. Beginning in January 2013, the BRFS in Wisconsin was translated into conversational Spanish and CANPB attempted to oversample the American Indian and Hispanic populations in Wisconsin. The 2013 data has been analyzed and an updated Wisconsin ACE Brief will be released in the fall of 2015. Beginning in January 2014, the BRFS included questions around poverty and child neglect developed by CANPB staff, Dr. Rob Anda, Co-Principle Investigator of the Adverse Childhood Experiences Study; Dr. Melissa Merrick, Behavioral Scientist with the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention; and the UW-Madison Institute for Research on Poverty and Survey Center.

The 2011 and 2012 data was highlighted in the “Wisconsin ACE Brief, 2011 and 2012 Data,” which was released in June 2014, highlighting the prevalence of ACEs in Wisconsin’s general population and by county, with an emphasis on race and socioeconomic status. The publication identifies policy recommendations for addressing issues that contribute to ACEs with the goal of driving investments in strategies to reduce ACE scores. CANPB formed and leads the Wisconsin ACE Prevention Committee to advance the policy recommendations in the original 2010 ACE publication.

ACE Interface

In March 2014, CANPB and Saint A co-hosted the ACE Interface Master Training Program with Dr. Rob Anda, Co-Principle Investigator of the Adverse Childhood Experiences Study, and Laura Porter, Director of the Adverse Childhood Experiences Learning Institute. The ACE Interface Train the Trainer Program was designed to support rapid dissemination of ACE and resilience science into the professional and general population in an effort to promote understanding and application of the science to improve health and wellbeing throughout Wisconsin. Twenty-eight individuals, including several CANPB staff, were identified to participate in the training. Participants represented systems working closely with children and families. In 2014 and 2015 the cohort of ACE Interface Master Trainers provided 24 community trainings with total participant counts of just over 1,000.

CANPB staff and stakeholders presented the ACE findings throughout the state and nation, including making policy recommendations to the Legislative Steering Committee on Supporting Healthy Early Brain Development. The Wisconsin ACE Brief highlighting findings from the 2011 and 2012 data was released at the 2014 First Midwest Regional ACEs Summit. CANPB also serves on the First Lady's Fostering Futures Policy Advisory Council and consults with leadership on disseminating ACEs information statewide.

Social Marketing Campaign

Between 2013 and 2014 the Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board, in partnership with the Child Abuse Prevention Fund, continued the effort initiated in 2010 with the Center for Health and Safety Culture at Montana State University to integrate the Positive Community Norms (PCN) model into child maltreatment prevention efforts in Wisconsin. PCN is a comprehensive prevention approach which addresses three critical areas – leadership, communication campaigns, and strategic allocation/integration of resources. The model provides a science-based approach to developing social marketing campaigns based on social norms theory. Initial work began in 2010 when the Center initiated the engagement of core Wisconsin stakeholders in a seven-step process to develop a social marketing theme and message to frame child maltreatment prevention. The goals were to: 1) establish a solid foundation in the PCN model with a dedicated group of stakeholders; 2) develop a core message to frame the prevention of child maltreatment; 3) develop a communications plan to share the message using multiple communication channels reaching a variety of focus audiences; and 4) build the capacity of key stakeholders across the state to support the core message.

CANBP and key partners complete the initial implementation steps between 2013-2015, which included the development of a statewide survey and distribution of the survey to more than 4,000 Wisconsin residents to measure perceptions about child maltreatment as well as compilation of the results. Findings will be utilized to inform a future public awareness campaign.

FaST Tool

In partnership with UW-Madison School of Social Work and Institute for Research on Poverty, the Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board piloted a tool to assess risk for child neglect. The Family Support Tool (FaST) was designed to be an easily administered risk assessment tool, with particular focus on child neglect. The tool is appropriate for voluntary clients receiving family support services. FaST was developed to be non-threatening, easily administered by workers or by self, based on self-report rather than home observation, focused on potentially malleable proximal risk and protective factors, and utilizable to assess family change over time. Two pilots and focus groups have been used to test the tool. The FaST tool was revised based on survey results and subsequent family focus group feedback. Currently, testing of the shortened version is in its final phases. Pilot survey data is being linked to administrative data on CPS events, and will soon be able to identify the risk and protective factors that are most strongly predictive of CPS reports, screened-in reports, and substantiated reports. Findings will be available in November, 2015. The FaST will be useful for Family Resource Center Networks and in Community Response efforts to identify the types of family needs with respect to neglect risk

3. COLLABORATION AND COORDINATION

The Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board continued its role as lead convener and partner on numerous committees, councils and workgroups to provide expertise and advocacy in child maltreatment prevention. These include, but are not limited to, the Governor’s Early Childhood Advisory Council, Department of Children and Families Secretary’s Council on Child Welfare, Attorney General’s Taskforce on Children in Need, State Child Death Review Team, Fostering Futures Policy Advisory Council, Abusive Head Trauma Committee, State Project Launch Advisory Council, ACE Prevention Committee, Wisconsin Child Abuse Network, Child Welfare Philanthropy Group, Wisconsin Headstart/Early Headstart, LAUNCH and ECCS Advisory Council, Triple P Committee, Collective Impact Advisory Council, Strengthening Families Steering and Advisory Committees, School Readiness Philanthropy Group, Safe Schools Healthy Students State Management Team, Home Visiting Evaluation and Program Improvement Committee, Home Visiting Project Team, Home Visiting Training and Technical Assistance Work Group and Home Visiting Quality Improvement Workgroup.

FUTURE DIRECTIONS OF THE CHILD ABUSE AND NEGLECT PREVENTION BOARD

At the onset of 2015, the Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board began the process of developing a new strategic plan. CANPB established its primary goal to prevent first time occurrences of child abuse and neglect. Four strategies have been established to realize that goal. The CANPB has also identified initiatives to support each strategy. Additionally, throughout the strategic planning process, CANPB sought to maintain and build upon those efforts initiated under the previous five year plan for which evaluation had demonstrated clear, beneficial results. The four strategies and accompanying initiatives are as follows:

STRATEGY 1: DEVELOP AND ADVOCATE FOR EFFECTIVE PREVENTION PUBLIC POLICIES

Key Initiatives

- Provide staff support to establish a legislative Children’s Caucus.
In the current strategic plan the Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board acknowledges the importance of building structures that support and guide its policy and advisory roles. CANPB is currently working with key legislators to explore opportunities and needs related to ongoing outreach and education and whether that type of effort is best implemented through a Children’s Caucus or another type of model.
- Monitor and provide feedback on legislations, administrative rules and policies related to child abuse and neglect prevention through the CANPB legislative committee.
In an effort to enhance the effectiveness and timeliness of response toward new or amended policy, the Board will develop a protocol to identify and offer the appropriate type and level of support for potential legislation.
- Develop child sexual abuse prevention policies for youth serving agencies that promote adult responsibility as part of the Awareness to Action Initiative.
In the next biennium CANPB will expand the Awareness to Action efforts to support child and youth serving organizations adoption of sexual abuse prevention policies. Plans to adapt the “Preventing Child Sexual Abuse Within Youth-serving Organizations: Getting Started on Policies and Procedures” manual to an online video based training format will increase accessibility and lower training costs.
- Utilize Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) data to inform policies and implement ACE prevention strategies across systems.
CANPB and partners will produce a cumulative report of the results from the four waves of ACE data collection in Wisconsin. Using the findings, area specific policy recommendations will be developed by those with specific expertise in that policy arena. In addition, CANPB will explore the integration ACE identification in tandem with currently offered programming efforts and approaches.

STRATEGY 2: PROMOTE EVIDENCE-BASED PRACTICES AND DEVELOP INNOVATIVE PROGRAMS THAT SUPPORT PARENTS AND CAREGIVERS

Key Initiatives

- Provide grant funding to expand Triple P, an evidenced-based positive parenting program.
The Triple P: Positive Parenting Program is one of the strongest evidence-based programs with documented effects on child maltreatment prevention. The Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board released an RFP in the fall of 2015 offering grants to support the initial training and implementation of Triple P.
- Provide grant funding to promote the Period of Purple Crying, an evidence-based abusive head trauma prevention program.
The Period of Purple Crying is an evidence-based program designed to alert parents of the existence and parameters of normative periods of inconsolable crying among infants and how to safely plan for dealing with episodes of crying. The Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board has released an RFP for non-profit, public or tribal agencies to apply for grants which will support training and teaching of the Period of Purple Crying curriculum to staff and also provide program materials to parents of newborns.
- Implement and evaluate Project Gain (Gaining Access to Income Now) to research the relationship between financial stressors and child maltreatment.
In 2016, Project GAIN will be completing the final year of program funding. CANPB will continue to support the research and evaluation of Project GAIN, including linking to an array of administrative data on CPS involvement, earnings, unemployment, benefit receipt, EITC benefit receipt, TANF benefit receipt, FoodShare receipt, Medicaid and State Children's Health Insurance coverage, child care subsidies, housing assistance, child support receipt, and income tax returns for the full sample of families randomized. In addition, a baseline survey will be administered at the time of randomization, along with a 12-month follow-up survey to all treatment and control group families. A final crucial component of the evaluation will be to conduct a detailed cost-benefit analysis of the program. This analysis will require that all relevant benefits and costs of Project GAIN be expressed in dollar terms. Despite decades of research confirming the strong association between poverty and child maltreatment, this will be the first true experimental test of whether the provision of economic assistance alone can prevent child maltreatment.

- Provide grant funding for the Community Response Program (CRP) to systematically support families at risk of entering the child protection system.

Beginning July of 2016 CANPB is planning to conduct a randomized control trial evaluation of CRP. CRP provides voluntary supports to families who have been reported to county child protective services (CPS) for alleged child abuse or neglect, but who are not receiving services because the referral is 1) screened out, or 2) screened in for further assessment, but the case is closed due to a finding that the report could not be substantiated. The primary goals of CRP are to 1) enhance comprehensive voluntary services to lower-risk families that are reported to, but not served by, the CPS system, 2) to prevent child abuse and neglect and reduce re-reports to CPS related to escalation of risk, and 3) increase a family's protective capacity by providing information and access about community services and supports available to meet their needs. The evaluation will identify the relative effectiveness of intervening with at-risk families for child maltreatment prevention. CANPB will be using CPS data to inform funding for CRP to assist in providing services to counties with a higher rate of families at risk of entering the CPS system.

STRATEGY 3: COLLABORATE WITH KEY STAKEHOLDERS TO LEVERAGE RESOURCES AND IMPLEMENT PREVENTION INITIATIVES

Key Initiatives

- Convene a multidisciplinary group and provide lead staff support to the "Abusive Head Trauma Prevention Committee" to 1) enhance data collection and analysis of abusive head trauma fatalities; and 2) develop evidence-based curricula and an education plan related to sentinel injuries and abusive head trauma to infants and children.
- Collaborate with multiple partners to coordinate the "Awareness to Action" Initiative, which focuses on educating child-serving agencies and programs on the need for policies in preventing child sexual abuse.
- Convene and staff the Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACE) Prevention Committee to study the effect of ACE on health and well-being outcomes and implement strategies to decrease ACE and promote resiliency.
- Participate as an active member on committees, including: Department of Justice, Wisconsin Task Force on Children in Need, Governor's Early Childhood Advisory Council, Fostering Futures-Policy Advisory Council, Department of Children and Families-Secretary's Council on Child Welfare, Department of Children and Families-Home Visiting

Project Team, Strengthening Families Initiative Team, Wisconsin Child Death Review Committee, Collective Impact Advisory Council.

STRATEGY 4: EDUCATE PROFESSIONALS AND COMMUNITY MEMBERS ON CHILD ABUSE AND NEGLECT ISSUES

Key Initiatives

- Develop and implement a social marketing message on concrete positive parenting strategies that targets parents, caregivers, professionals and community members.
Building on the social norms research conducted in the previous biennium regarding perceptions of child maltreatment in Wisconsin, the CANPB will be issuing a request for proposal for a statewide public awareness campaign on positive parenting. The campaign will target parents and primary caregivers in an effort to create awareness about the importance of safe, stable and nurturing environments and relationships for all children. The campaign will provide positive messaging around parenting, protective factors and child maltreatment prevention.
- Create educational curricula on prevention topics, including the following: sentinel injuries and abusive head trauma, adverse childhood experiences, protective factors and child sexual abuse.
Using the Center for the Study of Social Policy's Strengthening Families Protective Factors Framework, the Child Abuse and Neglect Prevention Board will develop a curriculum for parents and community members to promote an understanding and need for community consciousness of the importance and role of building protective factors in children and youth.
